

Building a network between the next-generation health system and data collection system from sensing devices in the daily life space

